

APPLY NOW:

Postdoctoral Fellowships Available Population Health Training Program

TWO HIGHLY COMPETITIVE POSITIONS AVAILABLE FOR UP TO TWO YEARS

JOIN OUR INNOVATIVE PROGRAM!

Fellows in this Population Health Science Training Program work closely with academic mentors in social and health science fields to build skills in interdisciplinary population health research to prepare them for academic careers focused on addressing pressing public health problems. We seek exceptional candidates in either social science or health science fields who have earned a PhD to join our diverse and accomplished cohort of trainees, and we particularly welcome candidates from backgrounds underrepresented in research.

All are welcome to apply to this outstanding and unique training program!

PROGRAM DIRECTORS: Drs. Theresa Osypuk, Epidemiology and John Robert Warren, Sociology

For more information:

z.umn.edu/PostDoc-PopHealth

UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA
Driven to Discover®

M P C
MINNESOTA POPULATION CENTER